Barolo Docg Terlo
Vigna Costa Grimaldi

A solid and refined Barolo

Vintage: 2022

Appellation: Barolo DOCG

Variety: Nebbiolo

Seasonal Trend:
The 2022 vintage was among the earliest in recent years, with harvest concluded in early October. A mild and very dry winter ushered in a season characterized by low rainfall and soil water scarcity.
Spring was stable and rainless, while high temperatures between late May and July accelerated vine development, bringing flowering forward. The plants adapted to the drought with reduced vegetative growth and smaller bunches, but without any particular health issues.
Nebbiolo confirmed its strong connection to the terroir, adapting very well to the climate. The smaller-than-average berries favored a better skin-to-pulp ratio, allowing for excellent extraction of tannins and aromas.
Overall, the vintage produced structured, balanced wines with excellent longevity potential.

Alcohol content: 15%

Total acidity: 5.63 g/l

Sugar (glucose + fructose): 1.93 g/l
